YoungVideoModels - Daphne After Shoots.avi.66.Q: Connecting to SQL Server Express using Connection strings and IIS Express I have created a windows application that uses the classes found in the System.Data.SqlClient to create and execute sql statements. The application runs fine under IIS and it runs fine in VS in debug mode (I added the application debug folder to my PATH and did %localappdata%\MyApplication\bin Note that This is a console application I am executing the sql statements using a connection string found in web.config The problem is that when I run the application using IIS Express (as opposed to using VS development server), the queries fail because of the port number mismatch (I 04aeff104c
