Community Opera Beta 0.4

Installed the beta version on my computer and everything works fine. The only bug I found is that the context menu doesn't show the option to "Exit". This is a beta, this does not mean it is stable. My experience so far is that the software seems to work well.

Importing from Outlook has worked for me so far. Found some oddities: -IMAP seems to not work (can't connect to it). -Opera seems to not be able to connect to a Microsoft Exchange server in general. I tested this by exporting the address book to MS Exchange, importing it to Opera and then saving it. When I open the exported file in Opera, the "save" options are greyed out. (Sorry can't explain this better) - When I export to CSV, Opera loses information about the number of contacts that are on the CSV. It always puts the last record as having 4 contacts on it. (eg. The original CSV was for 4 contacts, when imported into Opera the second record was never imported. I also ran into some problems when importing contacts from a second computer:

-When importing contacts from another computer, Opera had problems identifying names that had a special character in them, such as Cyrillic symbols. This only showed when importing, not when converting. The conversion worked fine. -The auto-complete feature doesn't work for the names. It gets autocomplete for the address book, but not for the names. -Sending messages from
